The right part and the right quantity, with value added services, delivered on time, every time.

Renaissance Global Logistics is the largest automotive export consolidator in North America. The company receives over 10,000 parts from 850 suppliers, consolidates it into customer specific shipments to ten locations on four continents. On average there is a 50% reduction in outbound containers versus inbound trucks.

Renaissance Global Logistics provides a full range of supply chain services. Custom designed programs are available and are implemented using Advanced Product Quality Planning methodology.

Consolidation

RGL's repackaging increases part density to minimize cost while custom designed packaging provides environment specific protection. Cross docking services are also provided for consolidating materials that arrive in export ready packaging. Cubic utilization of containers averages 90% as a result of proper packaging design.

Warehousing

Storage density and part preservation are key elements of effective warehousing. RGL's wide column spacing and high ceiling can accommodate any storage configuration while climate control ensures preservation. Access is no problem with 25 truck docks and an inside rail siding.

Inventory Management

Inventory control begins when materials are received. FIFO is maintained through warehouse design and systems control. Physical inventories, cycle and reporting programs are also available.
